

EAST LA

INTERCHANGE

Panel & Discussion

East LA Interchange tells the story of working-class, immigrant Boyle Heights, the oldest neighborhood in East Los Angeles. Targeted by government policies, real estate laws, and developers, this immigrant neighborhood survived the building of the largest and busiest freeway interchange system in the nation: the East LA Interchange. The post-screening conversation features director Betsy Kalin, Damaris Reyes (Good Old Lower East Side), Jack Tchen (A/P/A Institute at NYU Founding Director), and George Sanchez (Professor and Vice Dean for Diversity and Strategic Initiatives, University of Southern California).

Tuesday, March 8
7-9pm

NYU Cantor Film Center,
Theater 200
36 East 8th Street

RSVP at www.apa.nyu.edu/events
or (212) 992-9653

ASIAN | PACIFIC | AMERICAN INSTITUTE AT NYU

Cosponsored by the Urban Democracy Lab